Go to a resident council or family council meeting

While you're visiting the nursing home, ask a member of the resident council if you can attend a resident council or family council meeting. These councils are usually organized and managed by the residents or the residents' families to address concerns and improve the quality of care and life for the resident.

If you're able to go to a meeting, ask a council member these questions and take notes:

- What improvements were made to the quality of life for residents in the last year? _____

- What are the plans for future improvements? _____

- How has the nursing home responded to recommendations for improvement? _____

- Who does the council report to? _____

- How does membership on the council work? _____

- Who sets the agendas for meetings? _____

- How are decisions made (for example, by voting, consensus, or one person makes them)? _____

Visit again

It's a good idea to visit the nursing home a second time. It's best to visit a nursing home on a different day of the week and at a different time of day than your initial visit. Staffing can be different at different times of the day and on weekends.

Notes on second visit:
